Memorial Day Activities

Living History Books

Many of your residents have served in the military around the world or supported the troops from home. These people are actually living history and Memorial Day would be a great opportunity to allow them to share their experiences with young people. Invite students from the community to come and interact, ask questions, and listen to first hand stories from these living experts. This event will allow the students to gain valuable knowledge.

Letters to the Troops

Give your residents the opportunity to write letters in support of the U.S. Troops. Residents who have served tours of duty will understand the loneliness of being far away from home. This is an excellent community service project for the staff and family members as well as the residents.

Flag Folding

The American flag is an important symbol of our country. Proper etiquette and handling of the Stars and Stripes is crucial. Hold a flag folding lesson and ceremony Memorial Day weekend. Make it a community event by inviting friends and neighbors to the ceremony.

Vietnam Wall Virtual Wall

Honor and remember soldiers killed in Vietnam. A virtual visit to the wall allows people to search for and view the names of friends and family.
